A large grid for handwriting practice. The grid is 20 columns wide and 20 rows high. The first 10 columns are empty. The last 10 columns contain a sequence of four square shapes, each with arrows indicating the direction of the stroke. The first square is in the top row, the second in the second row, the third in the fifth row, and the fourth in the eighth row. Each square is formed by a single continuous stroke starting from the top-left corner, moving right, then down, then left, and finally up.
